

ER Diagram

- ❖ The User entity now includes attributes such as weight, height, gender, and Activity Level.
- ❖ The Food entity includes attributes for calories, carbohydrates, proteins, and fats to represent the nutritional information of each food item.
- ❖ The Meal entity has new attributes like userId to associate a meal with a specific user and date to store the date of the meal.
- ❖ The DietPlan entity includes attributes such as userId to link the diet plan with a user, startDate, and endDate to define the duration of the diet plan.
- ❖ The NutritionFact entity now includes foreign key attributes mealId and diet PlanId to establish relationships with the corresponding entities.

